For Immediate Release

Fox Body Mustang Restorers Get an Injection from Ron Francis Wiring

Many Fox Body Mustang restorers will be pleased to know Ron Francis Wiring continues their support of Mustang fans with their new 5.0 Injector Harness. With this part long obsolete by the factory, this announcement should be welcome news to those seeking this harness to complete their restoration.

Recently, Ron Francis Wiring announced the release of their transmission harness for the 1987 – 1993 Ford 5.0 Mustangs. Their Fuel Injector harness expands on this theme and is also tailored to those doing a factory restoration. It matches the factory dimensions for easy, trouble-free installation. The quality level is what you would expect from Ron Francis Wiring with factory correct connectors and terminals, quality crosslink automotive grade wire and protective high temperature wire covering. The harness completes the connection from the injectors and sensors on top of the engine with the main harness at the back of the engine.
